$3 million project to start soon

Major expansion for Husky

BOLTON - The largest industry in the Town of Caledon will begin work later this month on a $3 million expansion, to include a new research and development area.

Husky Injection Moulding Ltd. on Highway 50 say they'll be breaking ground within the next two weeks for an addition on to an existing building, with completion expected for August of 1982.

Husky is a Canadian owned company which manufactures plastic parts, and employs 348 people at its Bolton plant, and another 348 across the country. the owner and president, Mr. Robert D. Schad, was unavailable when the NEWS tried to contact him for a comment.

The building project will also increase the machinery bay area. While the expansion should increase production, a company spokesman could not say positively just how many new jobs might be created by the expansion. More details are expected to be made available in the near future.

"In these days of tight money and high interest rates, it says something for Husky to be having a major $3 million epansion right now," said a company spokesman.

A site plan for the project was given approval at Monday's meeting of Caledon Council.

Incinerator is feasible says new landfill report

by Paul Mitchison

CALEDON — Council has received copies of a feasibility study which shows the town can use a modular incinerator to dispose of its solid wastes, rather than continue with sanitary landfill sites.

"It basically states what Caledon has been saying all along," said Caledon's engineer John Hook, when questioned about the contents of the $2,500 consultant's report. A committee of council was recently formed to study the possibility of using an incinerator to take care of Caledon's waste needs — Caledon currently works within the Region of Peel's waste management program, but is attempting to become independent.

The report, prepared by Kilborne Engineering Ltd., goes into cost projections for an incinerator, and a suggested location. Details are being kept quiet for the moment.

Regional Councillor Emil Kolb sits as chairman of the Regional Works Committee, and points out that a 20-year capital financing projection for the Region's current method of operation shows a cost of $238,285,800 by the year 2001, including an $80 million debt, which indicates the advantage to Caledon of splitting off and operating waste disposal independently.

Engineer John Hook said that the "advantage of the incinerator process is in extending existing landfill", since the byproduct of the incinerator is "basically inert" and the volume is lower, after burning.

Regional councillors will attempt to have the incinerator plan adopted by Peel council, which might help with financing.

Go Camping turned down

BOLTON — Council has turned down Go Camping's request to open up a motor home dealership on Highway 50 at the entrance to Bolton.

The company has wanted to rent, sell and service motor homes on the property of Pt. E½ Lot 3, Concession 6, and establish a head office in the existing building. The large building, just south of Sheardown Tire, was originally built for a garden centre, and was used by a builder as a showroom — it is currently used only for storage.

In turning down the request, council agreed with a report from its planning department which said a motor home business would "adversely affect the town's ability to attract new high quality industry in Bolton".

"Such a use immediately south of the newly developing industrial area will tend to discourage high quality industries from locating in Bolton," said the report, also stating that "the outside storage of motor homes is both visually prominent and unappealing."

The use would have also required an Official Plan amendment and a change to Caledon's zoning bylaw.

Go Camping president Joe Sammut had appeared before council on Nov. 16 saying the franchise would be one of five in Canada, and some of the trailer models would be located on the property, while the building would also house a parts warehouse.

At Monday's meeting council suggested to Mr. Sammut's solicitor that the town was still interested in Go Camping, if it selected another location elsewhere in Caledon.

Night shift for roads department

CALEDON — The town will have eight-member night shift crew for the winter season, in order to quickly handle snow storms, and reduce overtime costs.

Roads administrator Bert Moore proposed the change in a report to council, suggesting a night shift for Dec. 6 to March 31, to run from 11 p.m. to 7:30 a.m.

In his report Moore said a lot of overtime during winter occurs prior to 7:30 a.m. and in most cases requires sanding and minor snow plowing. Should weather conditions not warrant the use of snow removal, the night shift will be doing equipment maintenance, catchbasin cleaning and drainage clearing with steamer equipment.

He said the system should "provide a higher and more efficient level of service to the residents of the town, as we will have a winter maintenance crew for 18 hours of a 24-hour day".

Moore told council the night shift might save having to lay off employees, and reduce the need to cut back on road construction, with reductions in subsidy money expected.

Environment hearing demanded by town

CALEDON — Council has demanded a full environmental hearing into the expansion of Orangeville's sewage treatment plant on the Credit River.

In an angry blast to Glen Schnarr of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority, Mayor John Clarkson accused the C.V.C.A. of being negligent in not demanding a full environmental hearing into the plant expansion proposal.

He further accused the Ministry of the Environment, which operates the plant, of only protecting people "when they can find a scape goat". He said the MOE had "nit-picked" over the Bolton sewage treatment plant, operated by the Region of Peel, when the new Bolton plant was built.

Clarkson has in the past expressed anger over the quality of the Credit River downstream from the plant, and has cast a dubious eye over Orangeville's plan to expand the plant, which is currently rated at 1.5 million gallons per day — the proposed new plant is rated at 3.2 million gallons per day.

Glen Schnarr of the C.V.C.A. was on hand at Monday's council meeting, explaining the Authority's stand on expansion of the plant — they say they won't ask for an environmental assessment hearing, provided Orangeville resolves concerns on maintenance of a marsh adjacent to the plant which absorbs nutrients, on an improved storm water quality plant to ensure storm water goes through the plant, and that the plant be capable of handling a regional storm, and be above the flood plain.

A dancer's delight

Get out your dancing shoes

Get out your dancing shoes.

The time draws nearer for Tottenham's first dance marathon, scheduled for Sept. 19-20 at the Tottenham Community Centre.

Organizer Don Semple says all the arrangements have been made, including booking the gymnasium, arranging for music (including four hours from Flash the DJ) and providing food for the intrepid dancers, who will attempt to keep going for 24 hours.

Proceeds go to aid the Christmas fund of the Hospital for Sick Children, and Ronald McDonald House, a home where parents of out-of-town children suffering from cancer related diseases can stay, while their youngsters undergo treatment.

"I'm sad to have to say that the kids of Tottenham aren't showing too much enthusiasm for the dance marathon so far — only two local couples have signed up," says Don. He hopes for a commitment from more local youngsters in the last few days before the event takes place.

So far 12 couples are slated so far to take part, far under what Don had hoped for — and in spite of flyers he's sent out, and ads in the papers at Georgian College and Seneca — but he remains hopeful.

A number of adults have expressed interest in taking part, Don says, as well as several teenagers, prompting him to lift the "under 18" age restriction previously in effect. Participants will take out pledge sheets and get sponsors to back the dancers for each hour they keep dancing.

As an extra revenue generator, Don says admission tickets will be sold at $2.50 for those interested in watching, with 50 cents for kids. Door prizes are to be awarded for the dancers, and plaques awarded for the couple lasting out the entire 24 hours — in case of a draw, the dancers with the most pledges will be declared the winners.

Two 20-minute breaks will be included so participants can have something to eat — both a breakfast and lunch are planned — as well as five minute breaks every hour to give dancers a chance to catch their breath.

Anyone interested in participating or helping out should call Don Semple at 936-3123. He says there should be someone at the Tottenham Mall this weekend selling tickets, as well as offering pledge forms for those interested in takin those interested in taking part in the dance.

Homeowners signed

Petition tabled

The petition signed by 1,201 homeowners in Tottenham protesting mortgage interest rates was presented in the House of Commons in November.

A letter was received by Tottenham Council from Simcoe South MP Ron Stewart, along with a copy of the Hansard petition, and the proposed new Canada Mortgage Renewal Plan, recently introduced into the house by Paul Cosgrove.

An excerpt from Hansard reads as follows: "The purpose of this petition, which was signed by 1,201 citizens of the Tottenham area, is to indicate to the government that mortgage interest rates are forcing them out of their homes and leaving them in dire straits.

"The intent of this petition is to demand that the government lower its interest rates and develop a plan of action which will enable families to retain their homes. These petitioners hope Your Honor will find their petition in order and sense the urgency and desperation of their plea, and that you might use the discretionary power of your office to allow discussion and referral to committee at the earliest possible moment."

The petition, organized this fall by local resident Jim Beatty, came at a time when interest rates were at their peak, and it was pointed out that many Tottenham homeowners might be facing enormous increases at renewal time, forcing many to sell.

Included in the letter from Stewart was a copy of the Mortgage Renewal Plan, which would encourage mortgage lenders to allow homeowners to defer interest payments on mortgages, with the government guaranteeing lenders the payment of deferred interest, and offer grants of up to $3,000 for homeowners with less than five per cent equity in their homes.

The new legislation is subject to passage of a bill to amend the National Housing Act.

Lioness bazaar nets $2,400

The Lioness Bazaar is over again for another year, and thanks to everyone who donated so much of their time, and to the businesses who so generously donated items for our sale, the bazaar was a huge success.

Although there is still some money coming in, the club has netted approximately $2,400 from the bazaar.

All the money has not yet been used, but $500 of it is definitely being sent to the "Judy Preston Fund".

The Tottenham and District Lioness Club would like to thank all the people who came out to support us, and a special thanks to all the parents, who were so patient while their children went in to do their shopping in the "Christmas in Muppetland" sections.

W.I. to meet tonight

How color affects your lives

by Mary Whitson

The regular monthly meeting of the Tottenham Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday, December 9 at the home of Penny McMullen on the 10th line.

The meeting will take the form of our Christmas dinner and will commence at 6:30 p.m.

Speaker for the evening will be Audrey Ann Lowrie who will address the members on the subject of color therapy.

We have been told that our behaviour and reactions can be controlled to some extent by the use of color and our guest will tell us more about the way this can affect our lives.

As we live in a wonderful world of constant changing colors it looks as if it could be a fascinating meeting.

If you are interested and would like to join us for this meeting please call a member of the executive. As this is our Christmas meeting we are exchanging small gifts and the value must not be over $1.

The members of the Tottenham Women's Institute have been very busy over the last few months.

We have done a great deal of catering and of course we sponsored both the quilting short course and the Craft Fair held so successfully in the Tottenham Mall.

We will be back in the mall again on December 12. This time we will have on hand for Christmas shoppers, the Tottenham History Book.

We will have a table set up in the mall from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and there are still plenty of books for anyone looking for an unusual and interesting Christmas gift.

Allan Anderson and members of the history committee will be in the mall from 1:30 to 3:30 and they would be very happy to autograph your own copy or your gift copy.

If you still have not obtained a copy of this book for yourself or for someone in your family, now is the time to get it as the price will be increasing substantially in the new year.

We will have the draw for the lovely quilt made by the members of the institute at 3:30 p.m. this same Saturday. Tickets on the quilt will be available up to 30 minutes before the draw.

Plan now to be in the mall on December 12 to meet the members of the institute and to see if you are a big winner. See you there!

Edna Schakel wins raffle quilt

Edna Schakel, a resident of Tecumseth's sixth line, came out the top winner in the Sunday raffle during St. James school's Christmas bazaar.

"I've never won anything before... I just can't believe it," she laughed after her name was called.

The win was kind of ironic for her because she had spent many hours working on the quilt and getting ready for the school event.

"Every Tuesday for a long time, I've worked on it. Now my husband will believe where I've been every Tuesday," she joked.

Sunday's bazaar was successful with many people attending and picking up Christmas ornaments and presents ranging from knitted and crocheted items to door draft stoppers and Christmas stockings to name a few.

Society banquet, tomorrow night

by Anne Manning

A terrible mistake has been made. Due to an error on the writer's part, the Tottenham and District Horticultural Society's annual banquet was said to be taking place on Thursday, December 17 at 6 p.m.

The actual date is this Thursday evening, December 10 at 6 p.m. in the basement of Fraser Presbyterian Church (just opposite the mall).

It is a pot luck supper with those whose last name begins with the letter N to Z bringing an entree or salad for approximately five to seven people and the others being responsible for dessert.

It promises to be a very entertaining but not a very late evening as we eat, drink and be merry this special season.

Everyone is requested to bring a little something of horticultural interest, wrapped for the gift exchange. If you've ever wanted to come to meet the horticultural society this is the time.

If you've been a member in the past and would like to renew old acquaintances, find out what the society is doing and its future plans come on out.

Just don't forget. It's this Thursday, December 10 at 6 p.m.

The topic for this week are red currants, black currants and gooseberries.

The first two are similar in name but related only distantly while the black currant and gooseberry are cousins.

The red currant grew wild in Europe as far north as the Arctic Sea and east to Manchuria. It is commericially grown throughout that continent today and as a result of cross-breeding, the berry can be red, white or yellow.

In North America it is hardly grown at all except in domestic gardens. The red currant syrup makes a most refreshing summer drink and is used in Europe in the treatment of dysentry. It contains molic and ascorbic acid, and the sugars, dextrose and levulose.

Banned in the U.S.

The black currant is also grown extensively in England and Europe, especially Germany.

It has, however, been banned in many states of the United States of America because it encourages the white pine rust which causes a rusting of leaves on the pine trees.

The black currant has such a high vitamin C content that during the last war, the British government had it made into a syrup and distributed to the British mothers in the days of rationing when fresh fruit was unavailable.

The gooseberry is extraordinarily popular over in Europe.

Tottenham's annexation

Well, all the negotiations have virtually ended, save for road maintenance, and Tottenham is now 240 acres larger, with the official changeover taking place last week.

We're tempted to scream about the necessity of rushing through the zoning, and servicing lots of attract much needed industry, but we'll hold off just for now — and instead reflect on the tremendous growth the village has undergone in the last 20 years, more than tripling in population. And the development has been good, thanks to high standards set down by our municipal officials, creating an attractive, friendly, and safe place to live and grow.

So much growth that there just wasn't any more room — thus the annexation proceedings. The extra lands will not only make room for industries for our people, but residential development should bring another 2,000 people to Tottenham before 1990, increasing our population by some 40 per cent. And there's no doubt the village will expand again, hopefully the same co-operative spirit that pervaded annexation negotiations between Tecumseth and the village this time around.

With examples of less tidy annexation negotiations all around us — the long legal battles between Barrie and Innisfil, and the nasty rhetoric between the Town of Caledon and Orangeville — it's good to see things run so smoothly.

Husky expansion bright

We can't help but be excited by the $3 million expansion under way at Husky Injection Mouldings in Bolton.

At a time when interest rates are as high as they are, it was a pleasant surprise to hear this week that Husky plans to start work this month on a building expansion, to include room for research and development. While other businesses are folding and cutting back, Husky is forging ahead.

Husky is the showpiece industry for the Town of Caledon, and we can't think of any other in the immediate area as well designed. It also acts as a magnet toward other industries, much needed to help pay for local schools, police, and municipal services. And as the cost of gasoline escalates, local residents will want to be able to find work at their doorstep.

As Bolton's industrial park awaits sewage hookup, Bolton's future economic outlook looks rosy indeed — Husky's expansion further brightens the picture.

International Year of the Disabled

1981 has been a very special year — it has been known throughout the world as "International Year of the Disabled".

Through the special programs and efforts conducted throughout this year we have all, hopefully, become a little bit more aware of disabled people and of their needs and our responsibilities to them.

As this year fades and "International Year of the Disabled" draws to a conclusion I would like to reflect on some of the dimensions of our spiritual responsibilities to disabled people, and indeed to all of humanity.

In the writings of the Baha'i Faith it is stated that God has created man noble and shining with divine perfections: "O Son of Being! With the hands of power I made thee and with the fingers of strength I created thee; and within thee have I placed the essence of My light."

In relation to disabled people what does this mean?

It seems to indicate that all of mankind is God's creation and each individual has a spiritual essence within.

And of course, disabled people must be regarded as also possessing this special quality — no matter how severe their disability. If we regard them in this light then how can we reject them?

There is a tendency in our society to seclude the disabled and exclude them from the mainstream of society.

This isolation is destructive and hinders the growth of the disabled, as well as our own.

For the disabled person, it affords very little opportunity or encouragement to develop the potentials and abilities which he or she does possess and to share these things with the rest of the world.

For the non-disabled person, he or she often grows up unaware of the talents and abilities of disabled people and is only aware of what they aren't able to do.

Through lack of contact with the various disabilities people are often afraid and nervous of disabled people and thus continue to avoid contact with them.

What can be done to remedy this unhealthy situation, to assist these special people to grow within our communities and to assist us to accept and relate in a healthy way to them, without prejudice and fear.

The answer is essentially spiritual and requires a spiritual attitude of love and acceptance from each of us.

The Baha'i Faith teaches that the unity of mankind is the objective to be achieved in the world at this time. If people turn themselves toward the perfections of God, then love and harmony will spread to all people, no matter what their condition.

The Baha'i writings state that "...all were made for harmony and union. The Great Being saith: O well-beloved ones! The tabernacle of unity hath been raised, regard ye not one another as strangers. Ye are the fruits of one tree, and the leaves of one branch...".

With this attitude of love we will naturally want to reach out to our brothers and sisters who are disabled. We will want to give them every opportunity to grow and to develop their potentialities and we will not be preoccupied with their limitations. We will include the disabled in our community life and cease to exclude them from our lives.

At this point in time we have a lot of work to do in order to create a family of humanity where all are cared for and nurtured.

However, it is beautiful and effortless work if we make the efforts with the love of God in our hearts.

"O Children of Men! Know ye not why We reated you all from the same dust? That no one should exalt himself over the other... Since We have created you all from one same substance it is incumbent on you to be even as one soul, to walk with the same feet... that from your inmost being, by your deeds and actions, the signs of oneness and the essence of detachment may be made manifest."

John Lennon was somebody special

Exactly a year ago John Lennon was gunned down in the streets of New York, and in the meantime a day hasn't passed where I haven't reflected on the sadness of his passing.

As I write this, the radio is playing some of his music, and I'm thinking back to the moment I heard the news, while writing stories into a computer terminal at the Orangeville Citizen. Ironically, my mind was filled with thoughts of Lennon just before I heard the news, as I'd bought an edition of Playboy just the day before, just to read a lengthy interview he and Yoko had given.

Many don't understand or like the media attention his assassination was given, since he was "only a rock musician". But for others, he was just as much a world figure as a Kennedy or a Martin Luther King, and the timeless music he made as part of the Beatles will continue to be looked at as something special, musically and historically.

There hasn't been the crass commercialization of Lennon memorabilia that there was with Elvis — not to any large extent anyway, since most real Lennon fans are offended by it. But this Sunday I spotted, a headline in the National Star (it's something like the Enquirer) that urged the reader to read all about Lennon's "wild drinking" binges.

And an unauthorized biography will soon be out, by the same person, whose name excapes me, that wrote another book detailing Elvis' drug habits and sexual perversions. I hope this garbage isn't bought, and excerpts aren't quoted in newspapers and magazines.

At the time of Lennon's death, I vowed to do something positive about it — to try and work towards banning hand guns, so lunatics like Mark David Chapman wouldn't be free to kill innocent people. But other than finding out that guns are very strictly monitored and licensed in Canada, if not in the United States, I didn't really persue it.

But I can remember when I was a youngster, out toboganning on a hill with some other kids, looking up towards the sky, and seeing written in skywriting, "Peace is here if you want it — Merry Christmas, John and Yoko."

He was the type of man who would do that sort of thing — spend his money on a world campaign for peace, or wear a bag over his body to make people laugh, and bring attention to his message. A bit unorthodox, and not the type of thing traditional heroes are made of, but maybe it helps you understand why people felt so sorry to see him go.

Letter to the editor

Co-ordinator asks for help with arena's concession

The hockey and figure skating season is well under way and like last year, we need volunteers to help in our community centre concession booth.

I have taken over as co-ordinator of the booth this year, and Linda Begin, Ruth O'Leary, Pam Mollett, Barb Savoie, Faye Tennant and myself will be calling people to ask for help in running it.

The sales from the booth are a large part of the revenue of the community centre. To keep up the profits, it has to be kept open and, to accomplish this we need you!

We had a lot of help last year and I hope this year will be as good.

Even if you don't have a child in figure skating or hockey and find you have some free time occasionally, please call and let us know.

As we don't have phone lists of the other groups using the centre, such as ladies' fitness, gymnastic parents and nursery parents, we would welcome your help too.

I would like to use this space now to thank all the people who have gone in and helped since the ice was put in last September. You're doing a great job and it is really appreciated.

These are the times the booth should be open: Sundays, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Mondays, 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Tuesdays, 4:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Wednesdays, 4:30 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Thursdays, 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Fridays, 4:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.; and Saturdays, 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Take time to keep your inner peace

An ounce of prevention

by Sue Smith

Hi! Grab your apron, it's time to make a mess of your kitchen and yourself, fill the home with scrumptious smells and have a wonderful time feeling all warm and creative. Ready, set, go - let's bake!

Christmas Shortbread

1 cup butter
1 cup unbleached white flour.
1/2 cup icing sugar (I shudder as I write this but they taste so good)
1/2 cup corn starch
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat butter until creamy and foamy. Sift dry ingredients into butter a little at a time. Add vanilla.

Drop by spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and bake 25 minutes at 300 degrees.

Steamed Fruit Pudding

If the cost of Christmas baking sets you back, this substitutes fine for the traditional plum pudding, but is easier on the budget.

2cups brown sugar
1 cup apples (unpeeled)
1 cup carrots (scrubbed)
1 cup potatoes (scrubbed)

1 cup whole wheat bread crumbs
1 cup raisins or 1/2 and 1/2 with currants
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup butter (or margarine if you're balancing your budget)
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon (or more to taste)
1/2 teaspoon of cloves (or less)
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt

I usually throw in a handful of nuts (almonds, walnuts, pecans) and some sunflower seeds.

Grate all vegetables raw and mix in order given.

Now you can add more fruit if you want. Chopped apricots go great here.

In buttered containers, steam for three hours.

Puddings may be frozen in their containers and reheated when needed.

Stollen Christmas bread

1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup chopped blanched almonds, or mixture of pecans and walnuts too.
1 cup raisins
1 cup mixed dried fruits (apricots, etc)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup melted butter
1 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
2 teaspoons dry active yeast
1/2 cup warm water
3 eggs
5 1/2 to 6 cups mixed flour or all white

Heat milk to simmer, add honey, salt and butter and place in electric mixer bowl to cool (110 degrees).

Sprinkle yeast on warm water, stir to dissolve.

Combine dissolved yeast with milk mixture, eggs, lemon peel, vanilla and three cups of flour. Mix at low speeds for three minutes or 200 strokes by hand, until batter is smooth.

Stir in fruits and nuts. Add remaining flour a little at a time to make a soft dough that leaves the sides of the bowl.

Turn onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, at least five minutes.

Place in oiled bowl; turn dough over to oil top. Cover and let rise until doubled, about two hours.

Punch down, turn onto lightly floured board, knead a few times and divide into three portions. Cover and let rest five minutes for ease in handling.

Roll each portion into a 10x7 inch oval. Brush each oval with melted butter and sprinkle with two teaspoons sugar mixed with cinnamon.

Fold half of the dough lengthwise over the other half, not quite to the edge.

On buttered cookie sheets use hands to shape dough into slightly curved crescent. Press along folded edge to encourage loaf to hold shape.

Cover, let rise until doubled. Bake in 350 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes. When hot, brush bread with butter and sprinkle with icing sugar.

Next week: a light fruit cake, Lebrkuchen (Christmas cookies), Jan Hagels (not a person but yummy almond cookies) etc. etc.

In the meantime try not to let the shopping, baking, decorating etc. become pressures in your life.

It's so easy to forget the real meaning of Christmas in our commercialized world. Take time to keep your inner peace.

'Til next week!

Christmas should bring love, not frustration

Contemporary woman

by Lucile Brooks

Christmas is coming. Once again we are being deluged with advertising. That's okay. We know most retailers count on the Christmas trade for a large part of their annual sales.

The ones that do bother me are those advertising toys and other gifts for children. The TV commercials directed toward youngsters, playing on their gullibility anger me the most.

Kids believe what they see. The toys shown on the television or in the catalogues appear to be marvels of invention. The children seen playing with them are having a wonderfully exciting time.

These toys look good. It's hard for children to believe that what they see isn't entirely real.

They can't see that the boxes are so flimsy they'll break with the first push. They can't see that those marvellous looking toys are often so poorly made that they may last through the holidays - if you're lucky.

The little kids just see that mom and dad are mead because they won't buy the things that look so good. Nor do they understand that their parents may not want them to have toys that are war-like or which foster aggression.

Then there are the ads that are directed toward parents. The ones that imply that if you really love your child, if you really have their well-being, their learning, their future at heart, you will buy that product.

This morning I saw a magazine ad for children's furniture. It said, "Why not fill your child's room with friends instead of furniture". Their slogan was, "Toys that love you back."

Really! Can't we give our children enough love without spending a fortune on nonsense? Do we want to teach them that inanimate objects have feelings, that they can turn to toys and furniture for affection? No.

If the product is good - well-made, durable, attractive, useful - people will buy it without the advertisers dispensing such unhealthy, inappropriate lies. Parents need to ignore these appeals to guilt, to their honest desire to be good to their children.

Is it worth a few moments' pleasure if it disappoints by not living up to the advertisers' hype? Is it worth the expense to buy your child things which have little value - but high price tags - because 'everyone has one'?

Play is a child's w rk; that is , it is from play that children learn and relate and get their satisfactions as adults do from work. Inadequate toys are as frustrating to a child as inadequate tools are to the worker.

If you purchase a new appliance or the boss gets you a new typewriter and it spends most of its time out being repaired, will you be pleased with the new purchase or frustrated? Children react the same way.

Let's not get caught up in the hucksters' promises or the kids' fantasies. This Christmas we could choose to spend our money more wisely.

Let's give our children less frustration and a lot more love.

Reagan's kind of talk helps arch enemies

The best of Peter Trueman

Russians without triggering an all-out nuclear war. Europe is sensitive about this kind of talk because Reagan's theory would be tested on European soil.

The Secretary of State, Alexander Haig, said last week that one of the ploys in NATO's bag of tricks was the so-called "demonstration" shot -- the harmless firing of an atomic weapon high over Europe, to prove to a potential enemy that the west meant business.

The Secretary of Defense, Casper Weinberger, said in effect the next day that this was nonsense -- that Haig was referring to a notion that had been considered and discarded years before, and that it was not now, and never had been, part of NATO's official strategy.

But Reagan ignored Weinberger's comment and told a subsequent news conference that there was some confusion about whether the "demonstration" shot was still part of NATO strategy.

Original hawks

The irony is that this kind of talk from Reagan and friends, the original hawks, has enormously strengthened the hand of the arch-enemy, the Soviet Union.

The new Greek government has already announced that it's going to kick western nuclear weapons off its soil, and the loose lips in Washington have made it much easier for them politically.

I suppose we've all worried at one time or another about the effect that mindless Hollywood movies and bad television is having on our society, our children and how we see ourselves.

But who would have thought that the world could end because of the script for a B-grade movie?

There is little more subtlety than that in the recent dialogue between the United States and the Soviet Union.

President Reagan, who has apparently swallowed the thriller scenarios scripted for him by the Pentagon, continues to suggest that we could have a little bit of an atomic exchange with the Much more talk about itty-bitty atomic wars in Europe and, the Yanks will lost their nuclear sites in West Germany as well.

I don't often see eye to eye with the Soviets about anything, but the TASS comment about Reagan's remarks rings a bell: "The American concept of a limited nuclear war", TASS said, "stems from the absurd assumption that in the event of the United States first making use of nuclear weapons, the Soviet Union will follow nuclear war scenarios worked out in Washington".

That's an ominous comment.

Look at B-grade movies

Reagan should have a look at a few more B-grade movies. He would find that there is no such thing as a limited war.

When a man pulls a gun on you, there is only one sane course of action: kill him, as quickly as possible.

If the Americans pull a gun in Europe, the Russians won't wait to find out whether they're aiming for the legs or the abdomen. They'll go for New York.

That's not news, but that too is reality.

Ads invite perversion writes in reader

Dear editor:

The article on "Love and Companionship" speaks of companion columns in our city newspapers.

If you have read them thoroughly, what these advertisers really are, are perverts.

The press teems with homos, lesbians, wife swappers, adulterers, fornicators and weirdos.

To encourage anyone, old or young, to use the companions column of any newspaper today, is to invite perversion.

I enclose samples of these ads for companions and, if this is what you like to see done through the classified ads for "Lonely" people, you are not all that moral yourself.

I don't know who Louise Brooks might be, but she'd be better occupied sticking to recipes and tatting in this paper than condoling with lonely perverts.

All star game

by Loretta Candy

Last Friday night five players from Tottenham's juvenile team played in an all star game in Thornton.

The boys from Tottenham were part of a team which consisted of players from Schomberg, Thornton, Sutton, Oak Ridges and Tottenham pitted against an all star team of players from Oro, Beeton, Caledon, Maple, Coldwater, and Stroud.

The Tottenham boys were right at home wearing sweaters from the Tecumseth Gallery.

Playing on the Gallery team were Glenn Clapham, Rob Sneddon, Scott Reid, Walter Urbanski and Andy Bradley of Tottenham; Victor Farr, Mark Matson and Ron Proctor of Schomberg; Kevin Bourassa, Graham Jones, Rodney Gilchrist and Randy Gilchrist of Oak Ridges; John Ellsworth, Dave Price, Glen Tridett and John Kloosterman of Thornton; Bill Long of Sutton.

According to sources at the game, "The game featured excellent goaltending, end to end rushes, crisp passing and good sportsmanship. Although the Tecumseth Gallery team had an edge in territorial play the score was 5-5 at the eight-minute mark of the third period. The game consisted of three 15-minute periods."

The Gallery tallied three more goals before the game was over with their opponents managing only one more putting the score at 8-6 for the Gallery.

Scorers for the Gallery were Scott Reid with two, Mark Matson with two, Graham Jones, Rodney Gilchrist, Rob Sneddon and Glen Trivett with singles.

Assists went to Walter Urbanski with four, Scott Reid, John Kloosterman and Ron Proctor with two and Rob Sneddon, Randy Gilchrist, and Graham Jones, one each.

"Coach Ron Reid of Tottenham was very pleased with all his players and commented afterwards that it was the best game they've seen in a long time.

The players on both teams are to be congratulated for putting on a fine performance showing how juvenile hockey can be played.

There were only six penalties, three to each side, in the entire game.

You could win $700 in groceries

There's still time to buy tickets for Tottenham's Minor Hockey $500 shopping spree at IGA, with the draw set for Monday, December 14.

Organizers say ticket sales are going well, with about $700 worth of the $1 tickets sold already. More tickets are available at the mall.

The $500 groceries can be purchased all at once, or it can be spread over a longer time period.

Man kicked cruiser holding impaired brother

Michael Churchill, 19, Loretto, pleaded guilty to impaired driving and his brother Gary Churchill, 23, also of Loretto pleaded guilty to a charge of obstructing police.

Court was told that Constable Wayne Easterbrook, OPP, was patrolling Highway 50 on November 7 and at 1:20 a.m. saw a vehicle swerve as it turned onto 25 sideroad, Adjala Township and then into a private driveway.

Easterbrook followed the vehicle into the driveway and an argument ensued with Gary, who was a passenger in the car, and the boys' father who had come out of the house.

Both maintained that Michael could not be arrested on private property for impaired driving.

The father was restrained by his wife but Gary kicked the trunk of the cruiser as it was backing out of the driveway to take Michael to the station for a breathalizer test.

Easterbrook arrested Gary also and took them to the station where Michael blew a breathalizer reading of 110.

Judge Anjo fined both brothers $150 each; neither has a previous record.

Short Reports

Possessed hot radio, sentence suspended

Judge Anjo stated that "any student who steals from his teacher doesn't deserve a conditional discharge - he is a thief."

The judge made this statement when considering sentencing in the case of a grade 11 student, Matthew Tipping, who pleaded guilty in provincial court last Wednesday to possession of a $250 radio that had been stolen from a teacher at Banting Memorial High School.

Court was told the 17-year-old Shomberg youth was observed by teachers at BMHS to have in his possession a Toshiba AM-FM radio cassette player which he tried to hide under his coat when he saw them.

The police were called to the school and Tipping admitted to them that he knew the radio was not his.

Tipping was given a suspended sentence and two years probation for the October 28 incident.

Fined $350 for impaired

A Collingwood man was fined $350 in provincial court last Wednesday after pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Court was told that Leonard Frank Hawkins, 28, was clocked by radar at 116 km/h at 4:50 a.m. on November 1 while travelling south on County Road 10 in Tecumseth Township.

Hawkins exhibited the usual signs of impairment and blew a breathalizer reading of 160.

In 1977, Hawkins was convicted of dangerous driving.

Man gets three months jail for impaired

Peter Robertson was charged with impaired driving on May 21 after police stopped him at 10:25 p.m. for driving with only one headlight.

Robertson pleaded guilty to his third charge of impaired driving and was sentenced to three months in jail and had his drivers licence suspended for three years.

Judge Anjo recommended that he serve the jail term on a temporary absence basis.

Robertson, who blew a breathalizer reading of 180, was stopped on Highway 89, Adjala Township.

His two previous convictions occurred in June, 1979 and August, 1979.

Youth fined for pot

Robert Wayne Stevenson, 19, Glencairn pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a narcotic in Alliston Provincial Court last Wednesday.

On October 28 in Everett, police observed a plastic bag in the pocket of the accused which proved to contain about 20 grams of marijuana, court was told.

Judge Anjo fined the youth $100.

Man fined for impaired

A Parry Sound man, with no previous record, was fined $250 in provincial court last Wednesday after pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

William Goodfellow, 45, was stopped by police on June 19 at 1:00 a.m. on Highway 89 near Concession 10 in Essa Township.

Court was told that Goodfellow showed the usual signs of impairment and blew a breathalizer reading of 140.

Impaired driver's truck in field

Ronald James Mason, 18, Beeton, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving in provincial court last Wednesday.

Court was told that police observed a pick-up truck being driven out of a field on 5 sideroad in Essa Township and stopped it to investigate.

The driver failed the roadside breathalizer and was taken to the police station where he blew a breathalizer reading of 130.

Mason, who has no previous record, was fined $250.

Impaired driver forced cop off road

Jack Wilson, 29, Beeton, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving in Alliston Provincial Court last Wednesday.

Court was told that Corporal Milner, OPP, had attempted to pass a car travelling west on Concession 1, Tecumseth Township, when the car moved left forcing the cruiser over to the opposite shoulder.

Wilson subsequently blew a breathalizer reading of 140.

He was fined $250 over the incident which occurred on October 20 at 10:15 p.m.

Youths ordered to work

Gene Finnemore and Terence Hueser, both 16 of Alliston, were sentenced in provincial court last Wednesday for break and enter of the Drury residence, Lisle on October 7.

When the judge asked the pair why they had broken in, Finnemore said they were just looking around.

Judge Anjo said that was a "ridiculous reason to break into a house", and gave each youth a suspended sentence and two years probation.

In addition, Hueser, who has no previous record, was ordered to complete 50 hours of community service work in the next six months.

Finnemore, who was convicted of possession of a narcotic in September, was ordered to do 100 hours, also in six months.

Impaired driver fined $150

A Loretto man hoped to have his charge of impaired driving dropped because the certificate of the breathalizer analysis only listed one of the required two test results.

Constable Richard Hardman testified that on October 11 at 3:40 a.m. he had observed a truck weaving as it proceeded east on Concession 3 in Tecumseth Township.

He told court that he had stopped the truck and noted the driver had a flushed face and slurred speech.

Hardman took him to the station and administered the breathalizer test

Judge Anjo fined David Bricknell, 21, $150.

Speaker at snowmobile dinner

Doug Stewart of the Ontario Snowmobile Industries Association was the guest speaker at the December meeting of the Schomberg and District Snowmobile Club.

Stewart's main topics were on what benefits snowmobilers have provided to the tourist industry and to disabled children in Ontario.

He also came up with some incredible statistics regarding the amount of money spent by snowmobilers with resulting revenues to the provincial government.

He gave those attending one interesting statistic re the number of snowmobiles in the province. There are 192,000 households with one snowmobile and 84,000 households with two or more snowmobiles. Revenue accruing to the province from the sport of snowmobiling is tremendous.

Peggy Brown gave the O.F.S.C. report, which confirmed that the government grant is reinstated. No figures on this as yet. Also, Peggy informed members that the O.S.I.C. has assisted the O.F.S.C. in its trail-signing program again this year.

Congratulations go out to Randy Glaze, who has just become an O.F.S.C. driver training instructor. The club will be assisting Randy in this adventure.

Norval Hollingshead advises the trails are being marked and the club is still looking for an old truck body for a new bridge. Anyone knowing the where abouts of a body, phone 939-2810.

The Christmas party is ready to go at the farm of Dennis O'Hara, December 20. There will be a visit from Jolly Old Saint Nick.

Next meeting is January 5. If you are not a member now, come join members at the Schomberg Community Hall at 8:30 p.m.

Schomberg school student reports

The principal of the school is Mr. Semple. Before he came to this school, he worked at the Richmond Hill McConoghy School and also at the York Centre for Learning Disabilities.

At our school, he is the principal and teaches Math and English. He also supervises, solves problems and reports.

Mr. Semple likes his work a lot and he likes the children, parents and staff.

This is his third year working here and he says he is paid well. He thinks that, in the main, the children like him.

Linda Hayboe

The custodian of our school is Mr. Gregory. Before he came to our school, he worked at Stuart School P.S. in Newmarket, as the head caretaker. Before that, he worked at Huron Heights S.S. and George Bailey P.S. in Maple.

His job here consists of the head caretaker. Mrs. Brown comes in during the afternoon until 6 p.m.

The head caretaker's duties are for the safe operation of the school and its grounds. He must make sure the school is clean, heated in the winter and orders the supplies for the maintenance of the building.

He is also responsible for the maintenance of the exterior, such as grass cutting, snow removal, or any work done on the grounds along with the principal.

He said that he's like other people — that some days are better than others. When people co-operate with each other, then the job is very satisfying. But when people seem to go their own ways, it makes it very difficult.

As far as he can tell, the children seem to like him. The children are different this year than the other years he has worked at Schomberg School. They are more independent and they don't have Mr. Gregory play soccer with them anymore. Previous years, they have begged him to play on their teams during recesses.

In general, the student body seems to get along. He has been here for three and a half years.

When talking about pay, he said that in three times the money is hardly enough. When we live at these wages you must live at a certain standard of living and live within your wages. This is hard to do these days, without the aid of the wife's part time job.

If you want extra items, work around the home you must produce more money. The secret is — don't buy items on credit.

Most of the people I work with are very interesting and helpful.

Alliston Hornets clobber Caledon Flyers, 12-3, Saturday

After two periods of relatively little scoring, Alliston Hornets opened up a barrage of nine goals against the Caledon Flyers in the third period of Saturday's game in Mayfield to win 12-3.

Alliston scored two goals in the first period leaving the Flyers scoreless. The Hornets led 3-0 before Caledon came back with two.

The Hornets began their barrage just 41 seconds into the third period and they didn't let up. With two seconds remaining in the game Caledon added one last ineffectual goal.

Alliston's top scorer, Dennis Breedon, who was fourth in league standings as of Dec.2, gained five points with a hat trick and two assists.

Rob Nicol did even better point-wise scoring a hat trick and four assists for a whopping seven points. Shawn Saunders also got a hat trick and two assists.

The other Hornet scoring was rounded out by a pair of goals from Joey Hartford and a single by Tom Jackson, who also got two assists.

Caledon goals were scored by Cliff Sildoald, Verne Camplin and Glenn Schaump.

Palgrave Patter

Betty Burton 936-4470

The lack of cold and snow does have its drawbacks. A neighbor and I have a mini-excavator working under the lawns. Each day brings another pile of earth to the surface. Friend mole (or moles) has been searching for earth worms and so far has piled up over 20 hills. Has anyone a solution?

December 12 - Bolton Albion Library - Tree trimming and carol singing for children six to nine years.

December 13 - White Gift Service at Palgrave United Church. Bring your money, food, clothing or toys to share with others less fortunate than yourselves. The gifts are going to the Fred Victor Mission for Christmas giving and may be brought to the Sunday School classes at 9:45 a.m. or church at 11 a.m.

December 17 - The Tottenham and District Horticultural Society are inviting all aspiring gardeners or gardeners of any kind (in short anyone who would like to attend) to mark December 17 on the calendar and be at Fraser Presbyterian Church at 6:00 p.m. to enjoy their Christmas party. People with surnames from A-M, please bring a dessert for approximately five to seven people and the rest of the alphabet bring a casserole or salad. The tea and coffee will be provided. Also a small wrapped gift pertaining to gardening or of horticultural interest for the gift exchange, is requested.

December 18 - Christmas films for children ages nine to 12 at Bolton Library.

December 20 and 21 - The Bolton Community Entertainers will be very happy to see and hear you take part in their "Community Christmas Carol Sing at Home". There is no admission charge, just an offering at the door, so bring your family and friends to the Albion-Bolton Community Centre at 7:30 p.m.

The Ward Four Recreation Committee, Town of Caledon, are hoping to run a winter session of recreational gymnastics at Palgrave School in the new year, provided there is sufficient enrolment.

The cost would be $20 for the 10-week sessions. Each session lasts two hours, from 3:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and/or Fridays. Please call 594-0307 (evenings) or Caledon's Recreation Dept. at 584-2274 for more information.

Social Notes - Wasn't that a party! Helen and Lloyd Carter were told to be ready and waiting at the door and guess what arrived; a seven-passenger, T.V. and stereo-equipped, chauffeur-driven limousine which whisked the couple away to daughter Lynn's home in Malton to celebrate Helen's 50th birthday!

Helen says some people will travel any distance for a party and travel they did. There were sisters and brothers and relatives from Cochrane, New Liskeard, Peterborough, Thornhill, Toronto, Scarborough, Tottenham, Dundalk, Rexdale, Ottawa, Palgrave, Brampton, Malton and Oak Ridges all gathered to mark this special event.

Helen received some beautiful gifts, there was plenty of good food, dancing and three magicians in the crowd to keep things hopping. Helen says the party could be likened to her wrinkles and gray hair, it cost a lot of hard work, effort and money to get them all together, and it was worth every bit!

Those who travelled to Sue Hageman's home for "Christmas in the Country" enjoyed a treat, the lovely and interesting home, the crafts and the refreshments. There are some marvellously talented people in the area and we thank them for sharing their talents with us.

If you are wondering how the 4-H club is going to spend the next session showing the members how to make breaks, quit wondering. They are learning how to make bread. I'm sure we all know how to make and take breaks, too many of them!

Don't forget the Thursday card group is still gathering at the Orange Hall in Palgrave at 1:30 p.m. Come along, bring some friends and enjoy this social time together.

Also the ladies would like to see more bodies out on Thursday evenings at the Palgrave School for their spirited volleyball games. Call Marg Patterson for details at 594-0382.

If any of you hate to throw out your used postage stamps there are people collecting them for resale to finance mission projects around the world.

Send them by third class mail to Mrs. R.M. Chmay, 230 Jarvis Street, Fort Erie, Ontario, L2A 2S5, Mrs. J.C. Lawrence, 6782 Dorchester Road, Niagara Falls, Ontario, L2J 2Z2 or Mrs. Roger O'Day, 66 Mahogany Drive, Williamsville, N.Y. 14221. Please leave the stamps attached to some paper.

About 50 volunteer fire fighters and guests sat down to a delicious hot roast beef dinner and all the trimmings provided by the Anglican Church Women, at the Orange Hall, Friday evening.

The occasion was the annual volunteer fire fighters dinner. Special guests present were, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bracken, Caledon's new fire prevention officer, fire chief Bob Hilton and wife Diane, mayor John Clarkson and wife June, councillor Emil Kolb and wife Beryl, councillor Don Currie and Mr. and Mrs. Haydu.

During the evening Beryl Kolb, Doreen Patterson, Brian Hughes, Bill Hugget and Les Haydu were lucky draw prize winners. The spot dance prize was won by Gordon and Gwen Carson.

Loreen DiMartini and Joan Beard made an official presentation of the cheque (funds raised by the recent bake and garage sale) to Bruce Zimmerman, Derek Sherlock and Brian Hughes towards the purchase of the rescue equipment.

Brass cups were presented to Bruce Zimmerman and Neil O'Donnell who are leaving the fire fighters. Fun awards were given to the most valuable coach and player, Peter DiMartini and Ron Patterson in remembrance of a game played between Palgrave and Mono Mills. (Mono Mills won.)

The Undriver award was presented to Paul Mitchell for his driving deeds.

Music was provided by Jerry Callaghan and a good time was had by all.

Bridge - Al McMullen is number one again with 6,620 and Marg Patterson next with 5,310 at the Monday night bridge club.

Birthdays - Lots more birthdays celebrated last week and this. Busy unwrapping gifts were Sandi McIntosh, Louise Bovair, Daniel Wolfe, Kim Marshall, Judy Patterson, Russell Matson, Susan Pinkett and Brenda Marchese. Best wishes to you all.

Guiding - The Second Palgrave Brownies recently held an enrolment and welcomed Jenny Kilfin, Erin Dowling, Stephanie Pring and Dierdre Lawlor to their pack as full fledged members.

The brownies favored leader Wendy Marshall with their rendition of Barges. This is the first song ever taught by Wendy to the little girls. The parents and even two fathers joined in the fun.

The Second Palgrave Guides cooked themselves a tasty chicken and vegetable dinner at their meeting recently.

WHO NEEDS LIFE?

Buying permanent life insurance is like opening a savings account, but there's an added advantage — you can provide an estate to look after your family if you should die. A CIA LIFE permanent policy with family income benefit would protect your family while it builds retirement savings for you. It could also provide a cash fund for any emergency.

Tottenham woman provides easy to make treat

As this is the time of year when many people make their own gingerbread houses, we asked Tottenham's Linda Doyle for her recipe for this easy-to-make treat.

She was good enough to comply, and we've printed it here for you:

Gingerbread for Village House

1 cup solid white veg. shortening
2 cups old-fashioned molasses
8 cups all purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 tsp baking soda
3 tsp baking powder
3 tsp ginger
1¼ tsp salt

Melt shortening and add molasses in 1/2 cut warm water. Mix in dry ingredients until smooth. Chill several hours, then roll small amounts of dough at a time to ĩ" thickness. Cut out patterns and bake in preheated oven about 12 minutes. (1/2 recipe makes my original size house.) Roll dough on ungreased cookie sheets to make shapes exact.

1/2 recipe above
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups confectioners sugar
1½ egg whites (about 3 T) slightly beaten
1½ tsp white vinegar
candies etc to suit

Cut out pattern. Dust pieces with flour, place on dough and cut out. Put on ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 350° F for 12 minutes/lge pieces and 5-7 minutes/small pieces.

Frosting

Put confectioners sugar in bowl, add egg whites and beat at lowest speed 1 minute. Add vinegar and beat at high speed 2 minutes or until stiff and glossy. Glue pieces of gingerbread together to shape house. Spread frosting over roof and let harden. Slightly press on candies, continue sides, etc. Make sure frosting is always soft enough to hold candies.

Cindy Jollimore of Tottenham, 16, got into the Christmas spirit last week by making this nifty gingerbread house. We've printed the recipe she used to create this masterpiece.

Atom Reps lose on penalty shot

by Lorna McCabe

This weekend the Tottenham Pharmacy Atom Reps travelled to Bradford to participate in the seventh annual tournament.

This was a round robin tournament with two sections for each division going by a point system. The boys proved they could keep up with the best of them as they went undefeated and all the way to the final championship game losing out to Bolton in sudden death overtime on a penalty shot.

I might add that Tottenham was the only team without a loss and had the most points going into the final game.

Playground fund $6,000

A very successful mini-course in gingerbread house decorating and making homemade chocolates was held in the Schomberg school, December 1.

Sixty-three people enjoyed a very informative, interesting and fun evening. Molly Froud (chocolates) and Jean Andrew (gingerbread schoolhouse) volunteered their evening and donated all materials used for this course.

The evening raised $132 for the Adventure Playground. We all thank you Molly and Jean for your contribution.

The idea of having more mini-courses in the new year was very well received. Watch for the up-coming courses and dates.

The playground committee sincerely thanks all the people who help in picking up papers and those willing to save and bundle the papers.

Your efforts have raised $1,100.14 to date.

Thank you Bruce Bishop for donating the use of your truck for the last delivery, much appreciated. The next pickup date is December 12. We can always use new volunteers.

With the weather being colder, we ask that your papers be bundled and placed out at the roadside or at the top end of your driveway. This would be a tremendous help to the persons picking up the papers.

A reminder that with the busy Christmas shopping upon us (for baking needs and food for all the festivities) please save your grocery tapes.

For every $300 in tapes the Playground Fund receives $1. Boxes are in I.G.A. Nobleton and Tottenham, Zehrs in Bolton or if you would rather, send them in to the school with a child, anytime.

There are some items on sale on our craft table at school plus gifts the children can buy.

The playground fund is really moving along very well. We have now reached the $6,000 mark. Thank you everyone!!
